NATIONAL SEMINAR FOR MASTER TEACHERS

RE: Seventh Annual National Seminar for Master Teachers
August 13-21, 1975

This 8-day Seminar is the only national in-service workshop of its kind in the U.S. There are usually more than 100 faculty participants, from 25-30 states and eighty or more colleges. They represent a wide variety of disciplines and subjects. The participants spend the eight days exclusively on practical ways to make their teaching more effective. Local campus political problems, or matters of governance, are not discussed.

The Seminar is a working meeting, designed to generate useful, relevant teaching ideas and techniques for each participant. There are no speakers, panels, canned presentations, or any of the usual apparatus of passivity. The main stress is on how-to-do-it aspects of instruction. Among items on the agenda for special discussion and mini-workshops are:

- How to handle varying levels of student ability in the classroom;
- How to individualize instruction in many different ways;
- How to adapt teaching techniques to varying requirements and/or situations, especially in respect to adult students in continuing education;
- How to organize course material for more efficient learning for varied student groups;
- How to make increasing use of the community as a resource.

This basic agenda is always expanded by Seminar members as they identify special interests and needs. The structure of the Seminar is such that participants are able to act as resources for one another, and to adapt the Seminar structure to their priority interests.

Basic Working Plan for Seminar - The total group is divided into working teams of 15 or 16 each, representing mixed disciplines. These teams meet daily to discuss common teaching problems. In addition, there are "mini-workshops", sometimes two and three days long, on specific matters, such as writing behavioral objectives; developing special teaching materials; revising courses; individualizing course material; and the like. Also, special group presentations are invariably developed from the resources of the participants themselves.

SEVENTH ANNUAL NATIONAL SEMINAR FOR MASTER TEACHERS

Application

Colleges are invited to send one or more participants. (Last year, 102 people, representing 80 colleges, came from 25 states, including Alaska.)

Though the Seminar is basically for teachers, deans of instruction, counselors and university professors working in the community college field are cordially invited too. Participants in past years have testified that the Seminar is the "one place" where they have been able to find a national perspective on their common teaching problems.

Applications will be processed as they are received. A non-refundable fee of $50 is due with the application; and this will, of course, be credited toward the total tuition. (If you find at a later date that the original applicant cannot attend, we urge you to select another person to take his place; and the application fee will simply be re-credited.)

Costs

A tuition of $240 covers all expenses of board, room, instruction and all amenities. (The Seminar is not supported by any outside funds, and is on a strictly pay-as-you-go basis.) The $50 application fee is, of course, a part of the total tuition.

Each Seminar member will have a room to himself in a modern dormitory. There are also facilities for wives/husbands/families. For further information about dependents, check the box on the application blank attached, and we will send you a fact sheet describing accommodations and rates.

For further information, write or telephone:

ON THE NEW BUILDING AT NEW WESTMINSTER OREARTH HATH NOT ANYTHING TO SHOW MORE FAIR.

One afternoon last week, I took refuge from a storm in the new building on the New Westminster campus. Expecting only a rude hut, I was surprised to find a palace worthy of Louis XIV.

As I decadently swivelled in my chair, I pondered the reason for the affluence around me. For a brief instant a thought crossed my mind....."Could the administrators be indulging themselves?" I could not believe it, knowing as I did the administrators penchant for hair-shirts and scourging themselves with surplus faculty expense forms.

I pondered again. I had it. It came to me as in a vision that once again our forward-looking leaders were showing us the way. As I gazed around the spacious boardroom- with its sliding blackboards and soft-upholstered swivel-chairs arranged around ample tables - I realised that here was the prototype for our future classrooms.

Once again we had been shown the way; "The student at the centre" lives still.

J. R. Gunson.

Surrey campus faculty are invited to attend a meeting to be held in Room 208, Surrey campus on Wednesday March 26 at 4:00 - 6:00 p.m. to present and discuss concerns regarding short-run copying presently handled in the faculty work room.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Toronto's morning paper, the Globe and Mail, under the heading 'Your Morning Smile', says: "Capital punishment is when the government taxes you to get capital so that it can go into business in competition with you, and then taxes the profits on your business in order to pay the losses on its business."

The following Article, reprinted from the Guidepost (APGA), January 1975 may be of interest in terms of students' records, rights, etc..

"FORD SIGNS LIBRARY ACT WITH BUCKLEY AMENDMENT"

Parents and Students Now Have Access To Education Records and Information

"Taking time off from the ski slopes, President Ford signed H.J. Res. 40, authorizing a White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services. Attached to this bill was an amendment clarifying the Family Rights and Privacy Act of P.L. 93-380, commonly known as the Buckley Amendment.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) published proposed regulations for administering this law in the Federal Register January 6th. The regulations are open for comment until March 6th. Send comments to School Records Task Force, Room 5660, DHEW, 330 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, D.C. 20201. Copies of the regulations, inquiries or complaints may be sent to this office c/o Thomas S. McFee, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Management Planning and Technology, (202) 245-7488.

The regulations spell out how institutions must provide parents of students or students access to official records directly related to them and an opportunity for a hearing to challenge such records if they are inaccurate or misleading. The regulations also describe the types of consent parents or guardians must give before data is released and how parents and students must be notified of these rights.

The regulations apply to all educational institutions with programs run by the Commissioner of Education, but not to private schools whose pupils only receive services from the Office of Education.

The proposed rules state what materials are not part of the official records and not open to review. These include financial records of parents; confidential letters and statements of recommendation placed in educational records prior to January 1st, 1975; such letters or statements written after this date if the student has signed a waiver of the rights of access to them; admissions to any educational agency, or institution; employment applications; and honorary recognition.

Applicants for admission are not entitled to see their records. However, once they are enrolled or attending the institution any admissions file is an education record that they could see.

A waiver of the rights of confidentiality may not be required as a condition for admission, receipt of financial aid, or any other services or benefits.

Students rights are not abridged by the proposed regulations. These proposed rules avoid some problems: students not having access to their own records, especially where they may be in an adversary relationship to their parents; teachers not being able to discuss the students record with the student without parental consents; students under 18 not being able to request that their transcripts be sent to colleges or employers without parental consent. Once students are 18 or on the postsecondary level, their parents no longer have any of these rights.

Annual notice to parents and eligible students of their rights under this law is required. The required information includes: the types of educational records and information that the school has on a student; name and position of the official responsible for the maintenance of each type of record; persons who have access to these records and the purposes for which they have access; cost, if any, for reproducing copies of records; and categories of information that the institution has designated as directory information; the policies of the institution for review and expunging these records and procedures for challenging content of educational records. Specifics on how these things are done are left to the local jurisdiction and are not in the regulations.

In a hearing, parents could not contest that a student has deserved a higher grade, only that a grade was wrongly recorded.

"If a child has been labeled mentally or otherwise retarded and put aside in a special class or school, parents would be able to review the materials in the record which led to this institutional decision and perhaps seek professional assistance to see whether these materials contain inaccurate information or erroneous evaluations about their child."

Where the guardian is an institution, informed consent must come from a duly appointed guardian. The institution itself cannot make the decision. However, this law does not prohibit HEW's Office For Civil Rights from obtaining personally identifiable data in connection with enforcement of civil rights requirements.

A school may destroy student information. In fact, HEW suggests that school officials review records and throw out outdated information; however, this may not be done if the parents have requested access to it."

Tournesol

For the past two years, TOURNESOL has been demonstrating the art of movement and motion, on stages, class rooms, and galleries throughout British Columbia.

The dance team, Ernst and Carole Eder, have had many successful community performances in the Surrey-White Rock area, and have established a studio in North Surrey.

TOURNESOL is currently setting up a tour of Surrey and White Rock schools through an LIP Grant, in the hope of bringing an increasing awareness of dance and body movement to students and teachers in the area.

The lecture/demonstrations are suitable for all ages. They will consist of a one-hour approach to creative movement and motion related to sounds, lights, music, colours and general environment. The dancers' philosophy is based on the idea that the body is an instrument of expression, of motion and emotion, in the same way as a music composition or a work of art.

MAD HATTER SPORTS

Rugby team wins 2

The Douglas College rugby team showed excellent form on the weekend winning their 2 matches.

On Saturday Douglas played probably their best game of the season, overpowering Seattle Rugby Club by a score of 32 - 8. It did, however, take Douglas a while to get going as they were 0 - 8 down in the first 15 minutes. But after that Douglas came to life and couldn't make a wrong move for the rest of the game. Al Benson and George Boon were outstanding for Douglas, scoring 3 touchdowns and 2 touchdowns respectively. The balance of the scoring for Douglas came from a touchdown by Jim Martin and two converts by Dave Jagger.

On Sunday Douglas hammered out a hard-fought 13 - 3 victory over Royal Roads Military College. Royal Roads was on the scoreboard first with a field goal, but Jagger replied minutes later for Douglas to level the score at 3 all. The score remained deadlocked until the middle of the second half when Chris Myring barged over for a touchdown which Jagger converted, thus giving Douglas a 9 - 3 lead. In the final minutes Gordon Dennison scored another touchdown for Douglas to put victory or a tie out of reach for Roads. As is so often the case this time of year, the game was played in muddy conditions, so the game was really a battle of the forwards.

The team is beginning to look good as the players start finding their legs again after the winter layoff. They play UBC on Tuesday and BCIT on Sunday.

Golf Team puts up good show at Varsity Tournament

Wes Gibbons and the Douglas College Golf Team have had the honour again this year of being the only college invited to participate in the Universities spring tournament circuit.

The first stop was at Victoria last Thursday over the Gorge Vale and Oak Bay golf courses. Represented at the tournament was UBC, SFU, the University of Victoria, Puget Sound University and Douglas College.

Douglas finished 3rd behind Puget Sound and University of Victoria, with UBC fourth and SFU fifth.

Scores for Douglas over the 36 holes were:

C. Bussey	77 - 77 - 154
L. Swope	81 - 78 - 158
G. Mink	83 - 77 - 160
F. Kato	83 - 80 - 163
D. BAYdala	86 - 75 - 161

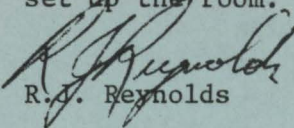

The team after completing the circuit head down to California for a series of matches, including the always powerful University of Stanford.

GREEK PLAY "LYSISTRATA" IN REHEARSAL STAGE

Rehearsals are in full swing for the upcoming Douglas College production of the Greek comedy LYSISTRATA by Aristophanes.

The play was selected by theatre director Dorothy Jones especially to tie in with the theme of the International Women's Year.

In the comedy, Athenian women, tired of their husbands constantly going off to war, decided to go on strike.

The strike is not in the form of picketing or stoppage of work - but to deny men their rights in bed as husbands! Will this help to bring peace among the men? The audience will have a hilarious time in finding the answer.

Lysistrata, originator of the devious plan, has a difficult time initially in convincing her sisters. But once resolved and determined to carry out the plan, nothing can stop the women.

Dorothy Jones said in a press interview that a strong cast has been assembled for the play. She especially singled out Sharon Pollock, who plays the lead role of Lysistrata.

"Sharon is a tremendous actress, and sets the pace for the rest of the cast", Mrs. Jones said.

Sharon was last active in the play WALSH - a historical documentary for which she wrote the script.

Re: Easter Monday - March 31, 1975

DOUGLAS COLLEGE LIBRARY
ARCHIVES

In accordance with the provisions of the Handbook for Support Staff, Easter Monday, March 31st, will be a paid holiday for probationary and regular support staff only. Please note that this will include all Technicians and Educational Planners.

The College will maintain regular class operations on Easter Monday and while some inconveniences will be encountered, the onus is on the Departments to make special arrangements where necessary. As an example, the Library will be expected to operate with the services of the Librarians, plus casuals and student assistants. Similarly in the case of Labs, the Departments involved will be expected to arrange for the early preparation of experiments.

The usual stenographic services will not be available on this day and the Campus Supervisors are being requested to provide essential services only.

This decision was made after consultation with the Executive of Local 62, who after discussion with their membership, have requested that we maintain the existing procedure as outlined in the Handbook, i.e. Easter Monday to be a paid holiday.

Please note that all probationary and regular support staff are to be off on that date and there are to be no exceptions.
